

Bobsled Is My Favorite Olympic Sport

By Cade Cohorst

My favorite Winter Olympic sport in 2010 was the bobsled. I really liked watching Steve Holcomb and the Night Train team win the first gold medal in four-man bobsled for the USA in 62 years. I would like to be the pilot on a bobsled team because it would be fun to race at 80 miles an hour or more! The Olympics have both two-man and four-man bobsled competitions that consist of about 15 to 20 turns and are nearly a mile long with an average slope ranging between 8 and 15 percent. Teammates wear cool suits and race fast! They've been a part of the Winter Olympics since 1924. During snow days, I like to pretend I'm on a bobsled with my friends! Being active is a good way for me to stay healthy, too!
